Disgruntled teachers call slowdown Mon.

Because they feel there has been "no movement on key issues," Amador school district teachers may vote Friday to go to minimum duty Monday.

Minimum duty could result in teachers not taking-up any duties after completion of classes, save athletic coaches, or a unilateral set-up of a minimum day calendar — which could result in students going home at 11:30 a.m.

The Amador teachers negotiating team is scheduled to meet with the administration counsel, Keith Breon, today from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Another session is scheduled the following day.

According to Jim Eaton, spokesman for the Amador Valley Secondary Educators Association, teachers and administration are split on the question of binding arbitration and an agency shop, as well as salaries.

Pleasanton school district teachers are also split with the administration on salary but, via a statement to the Pleasanton board by Amador Valley Teachers Assn. president Tom Zach last night, reiterated their concerns but made no threat of "minimum duty."

Zach said AVTA representatives shared the concerns expressed earlier by Amador district teachers but were also apart (from the administration) on assignment and transfer policy.

Addressing the Amador board Tuesday at Dublin High, Eaton said "We are here tonight to support our bargaining team in its efforts to complete the contract. If by Sept. 20 you have not responded to the key issues with some significant movement, this association (AVSEA) will ask the members of the bargaining unit to move to minimum duty."

Eaton said Wednesday building reps at Amador, Foothill, Dublin and Valley would be asked to question members on a move to minimum duty — if no progress were made, in the bargaining unit's opinion.

Reading from a prepared statement, Eaton also said, "We have entered into these negotiations prepared to participate in both the letter and spirit of the new law (SB 160). In addition, we have tried very hard to send to this board many signals indicating that we were very flexible in trying to make our way through the new bargaining procedures.

"After your response to our initial contract proposals, a response unprecedented in its harsh treatment of teachers, we did not make a public outcry because we were convinced that you too were a bit unsure of how to proceed. In an effort to encourage give and take, we moved quickly to agreement on calendar. Once this gesture of good faith occurred, negotiations in effect ceased on all MAJOR items on the contract.

"Again we refrained from public outcry. Through conferences with the superintendent (Bruce Newlin) and your president (Wally Decker), as well as at the table, we tried to outline the importance of several key issues and our willingness to approach them in a flexible manner.

"We have been met with posturing and vague references to philosophy. In addition, on July 19 our salaries were frozen, certainly a breach of faith with your employees. AGAIN we took the position that you were fearful of a financial crisis. By mid-August it was clear that the expected crisis would not materialize, thanks largely to teacher efforts with the Legislature. We can no longer explain your actions. You have frozen our salaries pending a contract settlement, but you refuse to make any movement on the last remaining issues.

Eaton then made the statement the association will ask members of the bargaining unit to move to "minimum duty" — if the board has not responded to key issues by Sept. 20.

Murphy, Raymond exchange

Valerie Raymond

LIVERMORE — Supervisorial candidate Valerie Raymond gave moral support yesterday to Livermore's pending court suit against Kaiser Sand and Gravel Co. when she appeared at a Rotary Club luncheon forum with her opponent, incumbent John Murphy.

Without completion of a reclamation plan for the four quarry operations in the Valley, Raymond expressed fears the area would "end up with 3,000 acres of empty holes."

"The gravel companies should recognize their responsibility in this area," she told her audience, noting the gravel companies could leave in another 30 years and leave the local governments and residents holding the reclamation bag.

Livermore Mayor Helen Tirsell earlier this week told the Times the court test was prompted by the "position Alameda County board of supervisors have taken" and was

Bus full, they use 680 culvert

PLEASANTON — Seven would - be school bus riders were left at the curb in Val Vista yesterday morning, but the school district may solve its bus overcrowding problem by the end of the week.

Wanda Campi, a Val Vita Vista resident, called the situation to the attention of The Times. The seven Foothill High School students had to walk to school, taking the now - famous culvert route under Interstate 680. The only other option, said Campi, is to walk eight miles up Hopyard Road, Dublin Boulevard, and Foothill Road to the high school, she said. She thought the incident demonsrates the need for construction of the Las Positas overpass.

Director of Transporation Mike Ananos of the school district, said the seven students were offered rides for a bus which would be ordered later, but they declined. The bus driver even had the authority to sign the students' tardy slips, said Ananos.

The district will shuffle around its buses this week to correct the situation, said Ananos. The district had added more buses because Foothill this year becomes a full - fledged four year high school, but the capacity still has fallen short.

All buses are being used to capacity and the district refuses to overload them, said Ananos.

One thing which may have contributed to the heavy demand for buses has been the action of police in stopping youths who are using the culverts under 680, said Ananos.

Ananos can't plan bus service, though, unless he knows how many students want rides. If a student plans to shun walking and take the bus, he or she should call him at the district headquarters so he can make the necessary plans, he said.

"We're picking up more every day," said Ananos. The cooling of the weather may have added a few more passengers, too, he said.

"We're using every piece of equipment in the fleet to its fullest," said Ananos.

Some have complained that putting three high school students in each seat is overcrowding the bus, but the state law allows it, said Ananos.

"We can't solve all of our overload problems the first day out" he said. "Monday was the first real day of school, and we were not overloaded at that Val Vista stop, but we were in other places. I think it may have something to do with the police stopping the students. I'd rather have the students in school buses as long as I know they are to be transported."

Cable rates up, $7,000 for public

PLEASANTON — Cable TV subscription rates will go up by $1 per month, the city council decided Monday by unanimous vote.

As part of the package, Tele - Vue Systems promised to commit $7,000 of its budget to providing more equipment for public access television.

A public access group is in the formation stages in the city and Darla Stevens, who already has actively produced some programs for viewing this fall, was appointed community liaison on public access by the cable TV firm.

Bill Lilly, manager of Tele - Vue, told the council the firm would give a strong commitment to the future of public access locally. The council said they will review the progress of local access a year from now and see if any adjustments should be made.

Each additional outlet will cost 50 cents more under the new rate structure and installation costs also will be higher.

Handbill attack on VMH chief

A series of handbills calling for the ouster of Valley Memorial Hospital Administrator Tom Andrews, unionization of hospital employees, an 11 per cent pay increase, and opposition to Valley Memorial's proposed Pleasanton hospital have appeared in the valley.

Sets of them were mailed anonymously to The Times and doctors on the staff received two sets of each, one in their hospital mail boxes, the other on their roster addresses.

All the handbills are signed "VMH 13", but there is no clue as to who sent them. Guesses yesterday ranged from "a kook at the hospital" (Tom Andrews' opinion) to a union organizeror a doctor who opposes construction of the west valley hospital.

The handbills are uncomplimentary to Andrews. "Save VMH, don't take lies, lay off Andrews, then... unionize — VMH 13", says one handbill. Another says, "Don't ask Andrews to go ... tell him — VMH Worker 13".

The handbill which deals best with the issues says, "VMH Workers 13 want: 11 per cent raise, layoff Andrews, not workers, no more lies, unionize". Another said, "Don't move VMH out of our valley. Stop Andrews VMH Workers 13".

There a was a variety of specualtion yesterday about what's going on. Andrews said the handbills first appeared on bulletin boards at the hospital at night perhaps 10 or 15 days ago. At first he thought they were done by someone who wanted to unionize.

Now Andrews thinks they were done by someone "who is having a nervous breakdown". None of his staff can say he has ever lied to them, said Andrews. And if anyone had a gripe about the hospital administration or his or her own job, that person could talk about it to Andrews, he said.

Tom Andrews

If it is a unionization effort, an employee wouldn't choose to spend $15 to $20 mailing out handbills to doctors, a group which could not help rank and file employees, said Andrews.

Andrews is also puzzled by the reference to layoffs. The hospital has not layed off anyone. The closest thing resembling that is the traditional summer staffing, which means some people lose a day or two of work at a time because summer is a slack season for hospitals.

"I think it's just a hatemonger," said Andrews. "I think the guy is having a mental breakdown. I'd sure like to know who it is. This guy is really something. The comments are irrational." He noted that hospital board members did not recieve copies of the handbills.

The handbills talked of an 11 per cent raise, a figure unfamiliar to Andrews. The board granted an 8 per cent increase July 1. He had no clues about what "VMH Worker 13" means.

A source close to the hospital told The Times yesterday the handbill may have come from someone, doctor or employee, who is upset about Valley Memorial's plans to build a

Murray teacher talks are collapsing too

Negotiations over increases in salary and benefis for Murray School District teachers have broken down, certificated and administration representatives farther apart than ever at 3 per cent.

Murray Teachers Association president Bob Kroetch told board members last week they would "boycott" extracurricular activities starting Monday, Sept. 20 if an agreement was not reached.

MTA negotiators, headed by Regina Paulus, a teacher at Lydiksen, and the administration counsel, Keith Breon, met for seven hours Tuesday, agreeing on most items in a 13-point package but winding up 3 per cent apart on salary schedule, step and column and fringe benefits.

The next prospective negotiating session is not until Monday at 2:30 p.m.

At a negotiating session Sept. 7, the Murray school board though Breon had offered a 3 per cent increase in the salary schedule plus 1.2 per cent cost of fringe benefits and 4.5 per cent step and column increases for a total 8.7 per cent increase.

The MTA proposal was 6½ per cent salary and fringe benefits plus step and column increases of 4½ per cent or 11 per cent total.

Benefit increases are sought to cover rate raises by Kaiser, Blue Cross and dental plans.

At that time, MTA had submitted the 13-item package which included allowances for release time for association business and an average class size of 28.

When negotiations took up again Tuesday, teachers reportedly made an offer of 8.2 per cent increase on the salary schedule and 4.5 per cent step and column increases for a total of 12.7 per cent.

However, agreement was struck on the work-day calendar, 181 (180 previously), and MTA said it would giveup binding arbitration of grievances.

The board countered with an offer of 4 per cent on the salary schedule, 1.2 per cent increase for fringe benefits and 4.5 per cent for step and column advances— a total of 9.7 per cent.

Thus, the two groups are now 3 per cent apart, though having come to agreement on the 13-point package.

In a flyer sent out to teachers Wednesday morning, the MTA quoted Breon as saying (in response to the teachers' counterproposal), "there is no need to take this to the board, they will not accept it. Cost of living does not hold water for teachers except those at the top of the schedule."

Earlier, Breon allegedly said "We have to hit an ending point some time", in reference to the seeming impasse in negotiations.

The flyer contains, in brief, the current board and MTA proposals. The latter, in brief, is listed as 7.3 cost of living adjustment to salary schedule, maintenance of current fringe benefits, a calendar of 117 teaching days and 4 work days and advisory arbitration of grievances.

Bob Kroetch, MTA president, said this would leave "well over $250,000 in the reserve fund."

At the bottom of the flyer, teachers were urged to "support the district-wide boycott.

Layman's explanation of super sewer line

Optimism was the key word yesterday as sponsors of the proposed $28 million cross - valley wastewater pipeline held a workshop with the press to explain the massive project to valley voters who will ultimately decide its fate.

"We feel this is the most beneficial project — and we considered all the alternatives. This is it," said Ron Hyde, member of the pipeline's sponsoring agency, the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA).

LAVWMA was formed in July, 1974, after the California Regional Water Quality Control Board (CRWQCB) determined that valley sewage dumped into Alameda Creek was flowing downstream and polluting the fresh water supplies of Fremont and surrounding communities.

Made up of two representatives each from Livermore, Pleasanton and the Valley Community Services District (VCSD) representing Dublin, LAVWMA was charged with finding an alternative system of disposing of its treated effluent.

After examining up to 26 alternatives, the board decided that a 16-mile pipeline,s30 inches in diameter, should stretch from Livermore to Castro Valley There, it would link up with the "super - sewer" — a proposed giant pipeline leading northward from Fremont to San Leandro, designed to carry sewage from Fremont, Hayward and Castro Valley into the San Francisco Bay.

The "super - sewr" would lead seven miles into the Bay, dumping treated effluent into 20 feet of water.

Current timetable for the project, assuming voters approve it Nov. 2, includes a construction start date of

See 'Sewer' pg. 2

Pipeline could also drain taxes

Organized opposition to the proposed $28 million cross - valley wastewater pipeline has surfaced in the form of two Zone 7 water management board members and a Livermore city councilman.

At Tuesday's special meeting of the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) meeting, directors received copies of a one-page blast at the project. It was signed by Glen Dahlbacka, Livermore councilman and alternate to the LAVWM& board, Zone 7's Richard Ryon and Robert Pearson, and Edward Lee of San Ramon, a former member of the Valley Community Services District Parks and Recreation Board.

Calling themselves the "Valley Residents Committee," they urge a "no" vote on the project "because the capacity is excessive, there are hidden costs which won't be revealed until after the election and there are no guarantees the project will be used as the ballot argument states. Why raise your taxes to subsidize residential developers? "

Existence of the letter caused LAVWMA director Ron Hyde to challenge Dahlbacka's presence on the board. Hyde received support from chairman Robert Philcox.

The letter claims that an extra capacity in the pipeline, set aside solely for future industrial users in Pleasanton and Livermore, "represents 45,000 additional people beyond what is already planned for the valley communities (Geldertown?)" meant to challenge the "failure of Alameda County to require a reclamation plan" from Kaiser.

Murphy did not answer the comments, but both candidates fielded questions on issues ranging from county budget, role of county government, social programs, taxes, the super pipeline, etc.

Murphy said a great deal of misinformation was being disseminated to the public about the role of county government.

"A great percentage of the things the board of supervisors does is mandated by state legislature," he said. "Three quarters of our funding comes from the state and federal governments."

"The county charter requires us to pay the prevailing rate to county employes, yet we had a strike which showed lack of union leadership and understanding."

He said the cost of food stamps in the county rose to $12 million, only because the government "lowered the voter age to 18 and we had more people to treat as adults."

"We may run the welfare sysem," he added, "but that is by the rules of the state and federal government."

Raymond blasted the supervisors for not being sufficiently "open with the public," and made four specific proposals.

Murphy said the governor should call a special session of the legislature to deal with tax reform.

full - service hospital in Pleasanton. Many doctors are opposed to the expansion because they really prefer the doctors' hospital which has been proposed for Pleasanton, said the source.

The doctors feel that two competing hospitals would work to their advantage. Competition is more responsive than "monopoly", they feel. Only a few doctors close to the administration disagree with that view, said the source.

Another source close to the scene thought it was an employee trying to affiliate with a union. But a check with the Hospital Service Employees union, which tried organizing VMH a year ago, showed no recent contact between the union and VMH employees. A check with the California Nurses Association, which also attempted organizing a year ago at VMH, also turned up no clues.

All the of the handbills were stenciled. The envelope addressed to The Times had a rubber stamped return address to Valley Memorial. The Times' address had been clipped fnom the yellow pages of the telephone director and taped in place with Scotch tape, apparently to avoid tell - tale typewriter or penmanship clues.

The Times' address was incorrect; the newspaper no longer has the Dublin address used by VMH 13. It's obvious that VMH 13 has access to old telephone directories, but that's the only clue so far.

Murray group views changes

DUBLIN —The Citizens Advisory Committee of the Murray School District began writing their report to the board at a meeting last night.

The report, when completed, will include a recommendation to convert a K-6 or K-8 school to 7-8 use, or maintain the existing organizational setup.

Dublin and/or Frederiksen have been discussed as prospective conversion choices.

The finalized report will be presented to Murray board members Monday, Oct. 4. The board will also be meeting this Monday at Cronin, at which time teacher reps are expected to address the board on the subject of stalled salary negotiations.

An audience of 35 fired questions at CAC members during the first half of last night's meeting.

Most displayed an anti - conversion or anti-K-6 busing mood.

Sewer made easy

Dec. 1977, with an estimated completion time of June 15, 1979. Construction of the "super - sewer" is currently planned on approximately the same timetable.

LAVWMA's Hyde said the pipeline would be required even if the Alameda Creek flowed directly into the ocean, due to federal law. "This is just one part of the federal clean water program," Hyde said. "The valley is not being singled out to clean up its sewage problem."

Engineer Bill Knopf said the Bay will not be polluted by the treated sewage. "The government wouldn't have approved our plans and agreed to pay 87.5 per cent of the project's costs if it didn't fit in with their standards," he said.

Similar sewage outfalls in Southern California show that instead of damaging undersea life, it provides nutrients to allow life to flourish in those areas , Knopf said. In addition, it is easier to monitor the quality of the treated sewage from a single outfall, instead of from several sources such as treatment plants.

In case technology improves and total reclamation becomes a reality, the pipe is designed so it can be tapped and the sewage rerouted. The pipeline could then be used to pump brine (from a demineralization process), other removable wastes or surplus water from the valley, officials said.

Some critics of the project say that even if the sewage is no longer dumped into Alameda Creek, the valley could be forced to clean up pollution from natural surface run-off (such as rainwater), which also enters Fremont's water table.

Roger B. James, supervising engineer for the CRWQCB, said that natural surface run-off does not normally contain objectionable levels of pollutants, except at the start of a heavy rainfall when the ground is effectively "cleaned." But such pollutants would not merit an entire cleansing maintenance system, he added.

Critics' main fears hinge on an extra capacity included in the pipeline to be used strictly for industrial users.

The basic pipeline includes enough capacity for 15.62 millions gallons per day (mgd) of treated wastewater, which is calculated to handle the valley's population for the next 20 years (estimated at 150,000).

An extra 4.1 mgd was added at the request of Pleasanton and Livermore. This is designed to handle future industrial users in the two cities, and will be paid for entirely by residents there.

Teacher pay talks pushed at meeting

PLEASANTON —Seventy five Pleasanton Joint School District teachers took every available seat, sat on the floor and stood in the lobby last night in a show of strength for their salary negotiating representatives.

A brief statement by Tom Zach, Amador Valley Teachers Association president, on the teachers' concern for starting the year without a contract, drew strident applause.

Still at issue, according to Zach, is the question of an agency shop, binding arbitration, assignment and transfer policy as well as salaries.

The board meeting was called to hear opening of school reports and to review, a closed session, applications for more than 10 aspirants for the vacant trustee position. Public interviews will be held Sept. 27 and 28.

An appointment for the position resigned by Dr. Guy Clark is expected Sept. 29 or shortly thereafter.

Trustees learned total enrollment at present is 50 over projections. Pleasanton, Harvest Park and Walnut Grove have the largest enrollments, the first two over 1,000 and Walnut Grove with 820.

Livermore education has proud past

By JEAN McKENNA

The return of young people each fall to school is a celebration of the future of the community. How appropriate that Livermore celebrates the proud past of its educational system as it looks toward the future this fall.

Six acres for the Livermore Collegiate Institute were designated on the very first tract map for the town of Livermore filed by William Mendenhall in 1869. Noteworthy is that fact that within a year of the town's beginning, a "college" (high school) was built with the financial support of Livermore residents.

A special exhibit of rare documents pertaining to Livermore's first college will be displayed by the Livermore Heritage Guild beginning tomorrow at the Livermore Library. The exhibit will coincide with the guild's annual meeting Sept. 30 at which Dr. Barbara Mertes, dean of Chabot College, will speak on education and the future.

Founded in 1870 by Dr. W. B. Kingbury, the old college was located on choice property along the north bank of the Arroyo Mocho, adjoining land Mendenhall had set aside for his private residence. College Avenue takes its name from that institution of learning which no longer stands. The McGlinchey residence at 1685 College Avenue, east of the fire station, was built over the site years later.

The first recorded mention of the college was in William Halley's "Centennial Year Book" of 1876. By 1883, when M. W. Wood wrote his "History of Alameda County," the college was renowned for its "shaded and beautifully - kept grounds." Mr. Wood declared that "the view from the cupola is very extensive and one of the most beautiful in the state." The building stood three stories high with 48 rooms.

The private, self - supporting college boasted 50 pupils in 1875, according to Wood, from "every part of the Pacific Coast." Benefit concerts were sponsored for the college, with beautifully printed programs. (A concert program from 1878 is part of the exhibit).

The Livermore Collegiate Institute gained a fine reputation as a school offering a high school education with some advanced classes, under the direction of J. D. Smith from 1875 to 1893 when the school closed. Smith is described as "an excellent disciplinarian" by several county historians.

The private school closed shortly after the formation of the Livermore Union High School District in 1891, and was remodeled by John McGlinchey in 1908 to accommodate his large family. The building was razed following a bad fire on Feb. 21, 1931.

From the beginning, settlers in Livermore recognized the importance of education. An example is the John Armstrong family which arrived in 1873 to the rigors of farming in Collier Canyon. In spite of the seven - mile ride to town over primitive roads, young Joseph Armstrong was enrolled at the Livermore Collegiate Institute.

Joseph's sister, Annie Armstrong (Mrs. Sam McKelvey), saved the commencement document of his 1883 graduation along with other mementos. The documents are now in the possesion of Roseanna Stewart, Annie's granddaughter, who has loaned them for the current exhibit.

Heritage check

Plans are complete for the upcoming survey of historic building resources in Livermore to be conducted by the Livermore Heritage Guild.

Gary Drummond, director of the survey set Oct. 16, is seeking volunteers to walk the streets in the older sections of Livermore to gather data on building styles and conditions.

The area to be covered is generally bounded by Pine Street, Junction Avenue, Maple Street, Seventh Street, Livermore Avenue, College Avenue, Holmes - First Street and P Street — about 160 blocks. Surveyors will work in pairs assigned to an 8-10 block area.

Persons interested in working on the survey should plan to attend an orientation meeting Thursday, Oct. 14 at the Livermore Library. The 7:30 p.m. meeting will acquaint surveyors with building styles, identification clues and survey instructions.

Renovate an old house?

To help consumers decide whether an older house may be worth fixing, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has published a new book called "Renovate an Old House?" Copies are 35 cents from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 45, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Some things to check are:

In the basement — Minor settling is normal and can usually be fixed by re - leveling floor joists and beams, but cracking of the foundation walls in several places could indicate need for expensive major foundation work. Check basement for dampness after heavy rain. Decay is indicated if wood in joists and beams comes out easily with the point of a knife. Mud tubes from ground to wood mean termite trouble.

Upstairs — Test doors and windows for jamming to indicate uneven settling, check ceiling and walls for water spots indicating leaky roof, and have electrician, plumber and heating specialist check mechanical parts of house.

VIOLINIST LORIE HAMILTON

Young virtuoso

Music to your ears

By JEAN McKENNA

What do you expect from a young woman who learned how to read music before she learned how to read a book?

How good is good enough to be accepted in the famous Young Artist Institute at Tanglewood, Mass., summer home of the Boston Symphony? What's more, to become assistant concertmistress at the institute?

What kind of future do you project for a violinist who, at 16, was the youngest student at the Moscow Conservatory of Music?

With Lorie Hamilton of Livermore, the long list of credits is a true index of performing ability, but the music she strikes on her violin is far more exciting!

Admission to serious studies such as those at the Moscow Conservatory, or Tanglewood, inevitably requires an audition by the student. Lorie's "audition" for this reporter, although not nearly as momentous, was professional in every other respect — and delightful!

The unaccompanied Bach sonata for violin was meditative, and full of confidently - executed subtleties, unusual for a young player. It's crisp complexity flowed unself - consciously from the heart of the violin. Lorie not only masters the difficult music — she understands Bach.

The virtuosic runs and trills of the Symphonie Espagnole by Lalo, which excite a listener to admiration, were struck like sparks from Lorie's violin without ceremony but with an insight equal to that demonstrated in the Bach piece.

Lorie will play both pieces, easy listening and great entertainment, at Festival '76 Saturday evening, Oct. 2 at the Sanctuary of the Livermore Presbyterian Church.

The young violinist is accompanied by her mother, June, who was herself a music major at Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash. She continues to play the piano, often accompanying soloists at the high school concerts, most recently providing music for the Peter Pan production at Livermore.

June introduced Lorie to music, and the daughter continues to try to live up to her mother's high expectations. Lorie's natural gift and love of music have led her to become a self - motivated and disciplined young musician. The two to three hours' practice each day is now a pleasure.

Two older Hamilton brothers are not in the least musically inclined, Lorie admits, but are more scientific - minded like her father, a physicist at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory.

It was during the six - month period that her father was involved in a scientific exchange with Russia, that Lorie became a student at the Moscow Conservatory. The Russians were not easily persuaded to allow her to study there.

"My only performance while I was there was page - turning for another student," laughs Lorie. She did, however, take three lessons a week with David Oistrakh for a short time after she passed an audition — the only American allowed to do so.

Lorie was sent to Tanglewood on a full - tuition scholarship for eight weeks, played in the youth symphony there, as well as in two other chamber groups. Guest conductors included Sergei Osawa, Collin David, Klaus Tennstedt and Joseph Silverstein.

At Granada High, Lorie participates in the orchestra, a cappella choir and madrigal group. She joins the East Bay Youth Orchestra for concerts, and continues her studies with Daniel Kobialka, principal second violin for the San Francisco Symphony.

Lorie has practiced "more this summer than I ever have," and plans to audition for the solo spot in the Livermore - Amador Symphony's youth concerto.

She shakes her head in serious acknowledgement of the "tough competition" in the world of professional music. Lorie would be equal to that challenge.

Something for everyone

A sample of items assembled for display show that variety and originality are keynotes of the Wayside Weavers and Spinners first formal textile show to be previewed Friday, Sept. 17 at State Savings and Loan Association in Livermore. Articles on display in 'Fibers' run the gamut of textile expression from traditional to contemporary, ornamental to practical, rugs, pillows, baskets, wall-hangings, clothing. The public is welcome to meet the artists and sample wine at the preview from 7 to 9 p.m. The exhibit continues through November. Don't miss it!

Pleasanton fair returns Sept. 24-26

Art and craft booths will again line Main Street in Pleasanton and fill the Amador Shopping Center for the annual Pleasanton Daze Streete Faire next weekend, Sept. 24-26.

The list of items offered for sale at 150 booths is endless — pottery, jewelry, decorated clothing, sculpture, macrame, afghans, stationery, mobiles, paintings, dolls, dough art, plants. In conjunction with the fair, refreshments and entertainment will also be provided.

Fair hours are Friday 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. (with moonlight sale by local merchants), Saturday and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Artists are also invited to participate in an art auction, a new feature of the fair, slated Sept. 26 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Lucky-Val Vista Shopping Center. For information contact Chairman Mike Harris at 846-5900.

The Pleasanton Daze Streete Faire is sponsored by the Pleasanton Art League and the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce.

Textile art by Barbara Van Slyke and paintings by Charlotte Severin will be featured in an exhibit at Franklin Savings through November.

Art show goes on without principal

In spite of the absence of a principal personality, the joint preview of the work of artists Barbara Van Slyke and Charlotte Severin will be hosted by the Pleasanton Art League as planned Friday, Sept. 17.

Mrs. Severin was unexpectedly hospitalized this week and will be unable to attend the preview, but will be represented by her sister, Designer Barbara Klein of Berkeley, who will attend the gala from 7 to 10 p.m. at Franklin Savings and Loan Association's Main Street office.

Barbara Van Slyke will greet visitors at the preview in person.

A student of oil painting since the age of 12, Charlotte has preferred the watercolor medium since 1966, the year she came to the valley. She almost exclusively paints "on location," believing that the outdoor atmosphere brings a freshness and freedom to her work. Her style incorporates a flowing wet - into - wet technique; her favorite subject is the land or seascape.

Charlotte is a charter member of the PAL, and immediate past president of the Pleasanton Cultural Arts Council, a member of the Livermore Art Association and Society of Western Artists. She is a volunteer art teacher in Pleasanton schools.

Mrs. Van Slyke first became involved in art as a student of photography, and still believes her knowledge of photography assists her in textile design. Her photographs were displayed at the World's Fair, and published in the U.S. Camera Annual.

Barbara was also a serious student of painting before she turned to stitchery. For this reason, much of her work in stitchery sets a scene as in painting.

She engages in off-loom weaving, soft sculpture, patchwork, applique and needlepoint, and teaches fiber art through the Pleasanton Cultural Art Center and Castro Valley Adult School.

The music of jazz giants Duke Ellington and Louis Armstrong, as well as the stylings of trend - setting big bands of the '30s, will get the 19th edition of the Monterey Jazz Festival off and winging Friday night.

Brainchild of Jimmy Lyons, MJF has long since become an institution and the third weekend of September would not be the same without it.

Monterey has taken its place among the great jazz festivals of the world. To be invited to play at Monterey is an honor musicians treasure. It is not just another stop on the nightclub and festival circuit.

The format remains basically the same ... a 9 p.m. Friday premiere followed by a rhythm, soul and gospel program Saturday afternoon and featured theme program Saturday night.

Sunday afternoon's program explores new areas of contemporary music while the PM finale concentrates on "jazz tangents."

Valley jazz aficionados planning on the Monterey run are advised that hotels and motels on the Monterey Peninsula are full — unless you care to chance finding something on the outskirts of Salinas!

The Monterey Fairgrounds, site of the festival, has a seating capacity in excess of 6,000 but ducats for Friday and Saturday night performances may be hard to come by.

A salute to the late Duke Ellington, a Count Basie retrospective, singer Helen Humes and a quartet organized by Dave Brubeck alumnus Paul Desmond are billed Saturday evening. The program leads off with a set by the Olympia Brass Band, one of the renowned marching bands of New Orleans.

The Ellington portion will feature several of his former sidemen — clarinetist Russell Procope, trumpeter Cat Anderson and trombonist Jimmy Cleveland.

The big bands retrospective will focus on the stylings of Jimmy Lunceford, Fletcher Henderson and Dizzy Gillespie. Sunday afternoon's concert will spotlight several European artists and African percussion instruments.

Ticket information may be had by calling the festival box office at (408) 373-3366.

While the valley has its own excellent wineries, Napa Valley is one up in the concerts that several of the firms present each summer.

Several in the Yountville - St.Helena - Calistoga area schedule weekend events in addition to public tours.

Charles Krug recently completed its August Moon series but others, such as Beringer, Mondavi, Christian Bros. and Freemark Abbey, have tours and programs of music from time to time. The latter is more suited to casual tourists and, having been there a couple of times, is a recommendation of this writer.

Perhaps more noted for its musical series is the Paul Masson Vineyards near Saratoga. The offerings range from contemporary jazz to string quartet.

The 1976-77 season of Lively Arts at Stanford debuts Friday, Oct. 22 with The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center. Directed by Charles Wadsworth, the group has performed 149 concerts in New York, virtually every one of them a sell-out.

Ticket information may be had by calling the Tresidder ticket office at 497-4317. Program information on The Lively Arts at Stanford is available by writing Office of Public Events, Room 3, Encina Commons, Stanford 94305.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) An underling could cause you grief today because he failed to follow instructions. Look over his shoulder.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your nest egg could fall out of the tree today. Be careful. You're extravagant and prone to take unwarranted risks.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't come down too hard on those who criticize you today. They may be doing it for your own good. Keep an open mind to avoid hurting your cause.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's very difficult to deal with you today because of your reluctance to say what you really think. Try to be more frank and honest.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't lend anything to anyone whose integrity you have cause to doubt. Your instincts are probably right. You have small chance of recovery.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Trying to bulldoze people into agreeing with you today will avail you little. They'll realize you're a little self-serving and will stiffen their backs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't assume people are going to accept your ideas today. Sound others out before pushing your theories.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You should not be materialistic with friends today. Also, avoid others who are. Unpleasantries could result that you'll later regret.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Normally you're the type who thinks individually. Today, however, you may let a forceful person make critical decisions for you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're too harsh on people who work for you today, they'll find ways to keep their own skirts clean. If a mess results, you may be to blame.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're thinking of filling any inside straights today, forget it. Gambles will turn out very poorly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-march 20) Any domestic decisions should be handled diplomatically today. Concede a little rather than lose everything!

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you want to use suit-preference signals, do not let them interfere with your regular signals to show count or desire to have your partner continue the suit he has just led.

North and South reach four hearts, after North responded with a Stayman two-club bid to his partner's notrump. It would have been better for North to forget Stayman and go right to the notrump game, but he did bid two clubs and get in the 4-4 heart fit.

West opened the king of diamonds and East dropped the queen. This is a well-known signal designed to show the queen and jack and give partner a chance to underlead his ace at trick two if he wishes.

West, one of those suit-preference addicts, took the play as a request to lead a spade. He did just that and declarer had no trouble making five odd.

Actually, the hand should have been beaten. West would continue with the ace and another diamond. East would overtake with the jack. If he led a fourth diamond West would be able to ruff with the 10 of hearts to establish his partner's jack as a sure trump trick.

Does it make any difference if you are playing limit raises?

The correct bid in any system is four spades. If your partner can't make it the chances are that the opponents could make five hearts. If four spades can make, the chances are that the opponents have a good save.

Critchfield boosts Wolves' hopes

It's only the beginning of football season, but San Ramon High is already talking about its basketball All-American.

He's Russ Critchfield, the former UC Berkeley great, who was named the Wolves new head basketball coach this week, replacing John Clawson.

Everybody is talking about the diminutive former star who still holds some seven records at Berkeley.

In fact, second year principal Jim Henderson can't stop talking.

"We're very high on Russ," said Henderson. "One of the things that we are looking for in coaching at San Ramon are people that can work with lots of people.

"We wanted someone who could go out and relate to the community. That's very important to my philosophy. Another thing I like about him is that he has very successful classroom experience."

Along with his coaching duties, Critchfield will also work at the blackboard teaching US history, mathematics and physical education.

"He's really going to have his work cut out for him." continued the principal. "I think he's got a personality that's going to be very effective in the classroom. He's going to bring athletics into the classroom and tie the athletic program and classroom together. I think that's the role that (new head football coach) Lyle Setencich is carrying out. I think it's most important that you hire someone because of what he or she can do in the classroom.

"We hired Russ because he's very competent." he added. "There's no question about that. I think his coaching experience speaks for itself. He's also going to give support to other teams. One of the important things in high school coaching is that the coaches give support to wrestling, basketball, baseball and all the rest. There has to be that equal support in encouraging the kids to go out and play for another team."

Henderson doesn't underestimate Critchfield's chances of taking a new club and transforming it into a winner right from the start. He's banking on a big prediction.

"Russ is going to have an outstanding basketball program," he said. "It's one that's going to be competitive, character building and at the same time, it's going to complement whatever else is going on in the school."

Critchfield, who likes to play down his list of accolades at Cal, scored the most points in a single season (545), most points in conference season (308 in 14 games), most points per game average (21.0), most field goals in single season (225), most field goals made in conference season (129), most field goal attempts in season (493) and most attempts in a conference season (225).

"Awards and things like that are fine and good memories, but the times I remember the most are the times I had with players and coaches. That means a lot more to me than some award. To me they're not that significant."

Critchfield brings in six years of combined coaching on both the high school and college level. Last year he assisted varsity coach Tim Vezie at San Diego State and helped the Aztecs to the Pacific Coast Athletic Association championship and to the NCAA regional playoffs.

After doing everything but make the ball turn colors at Cal, Critchfield, who grew up in Salinas, played one year for the Oakland Oaks of the old American Basketball Association in 1968-69.

He met Clawson, who held the SR cage program for two years before resigning one month ago to head the $4 million renovation project on campus, on the club and developed a longstanding relationship. Clawson is serving as the liaison between builders, architects and district officials.

Leaving his brief one-year stint with the Oaks behind him, Critchfield attended graduate school at San Francisco State, and began his coaching career.

He also started being humble.

"Yeah," he laughs, "we went 6-20 that year. It's pretty easy to be humble with a record like that."

Critchfield left coaching for one year but missed the hardwood and jumped back into the ring again in 1971 at Salesian High in Richmond. He spent three years there, and produced a fine 56-24 overall mark in the rugged Catholic Athletic League.

He also coached one year as an unpaid assistant for Dick Edwards at Cal before landing the San Diego job last year.

"And that takes you up to now." he chuckled.

He felt a sudden urgency to test his knowledge on the high school level, in explaining his new appointment.

"I really missed teaching and coaching in high school." noted Critchfield, who was tagged "The Rat" in college because of his small 5-10, 155-pound size.

"It certainly was a difficult decision to make," he continued, "but I'm really looking forward to creating my type of program. I'm very excited about the challenge."

Inspiring Moore to speak

Johnny Moore of the San Jose Earthquakes will speak at a Civatan breakfast tomorrow morning at Castlewood Country Club at 7:30 a.m. The public is invited.

Moore, a native of Scotland, will also present the Earthquakes 20 - minute highlight film.

"Johnny's an inspiration to any goal-oriented individual," says Harry Regan, a Civatan spokesman, alluding to the fact that Moore finished the season with the Quakes despite a concussion, a fractured skull and a broken right arm.

Moore will speak on "What It Takes to be a Pro." The 5-5 midfielder obviously has what it takes, lacking both size or natural ability — attributes that allow some players to coast through an NASL season.

Regan further praised Moore as the first player to come to the valley to help set up the now-booming soccer program. At the time, Moore, who later played semi-pro ball in the area, was with the NASL champion California Clippers, now defunct.

"John's coached or had an influence on over 1000 kids in Pleasanton alone," Regan added.

While there will be no charge to listen to Moore speak, a charge of $3.75 will be levied on all those desiring to eat.

Further information is available from Regan at 462-4535.

SRV planners OK new housing plans

DANVILLE — Twin Creeks South, a 1,003-unit subdivision, won final approval Tuesday from the San Ramon Valley Community Planning Committee.

Carl Dame, the developer, appeared before the committee with an update on his project, located south of North Canyon Road.

The project is part of a planned unit development on the Bishop property.

In other action, the committee approved Rancho Ramon, a 350-unit subdivision by Shapell Industries. The project had been reviewed by the committee earler and changes requested in the street plans.

Democratic hub opens

Safe at home

The Babe Ruth senior baseball team in Pleasanton went all the way to the state finals this summer and had a shiny plaque to show for it. When Babe Ruth teams win local championships, the team sponsors are awarded the plaques. However, in post season play, a team which goes to state finals pays its own way and Paul Senden of the Babe Ruth League it would be nice to donate the plaque to the city to share the victory with all local citizens. Mayor Robert Philcox, left, receives the plaque while Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire and Councilman Frank Brandes beam approval.

Deficit fair budget may delay projects

The capital outlay portion of the 1977 County Fair Association budget to be reviewed by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday has little chance of being implemented, either in part or full.

Fair Secretary-Manager Lee Hall took that position Tuesday as directors reviewed the present budget and finalized recommendations on the '77 operating budget and capital expenses.

The '77 operating budget is based on 1975 figures, according to Hall.

Biggest chunk of the $830,000 capital program for 1976-77 is represented by the Amador Livestock Pavilion, including parking, landscaping and lighting. Estimated cost of the project is $550,000.

Other projects, which appear to have little chance of being completed, range in cost from $25,000 to $75,000 and include Phase II work on the theatre walk and park area (includes fountain, tower and paving of walkways), landscaping and planting of grounds, demolition of existing livestock barns, a new Gate C and lighting for same, and completion of lighting for parking areas 6, 7 and 9 and lawn area of Area B, barbecue and picnic areas.

Earlier, Hall said a deficit budget in the amount of $188,748 had been submitted to the county. He added the Fair Association had sustained an operating loss of $549,000 to date.

In other business, directors agreed to discontinue contributions to the parade at fair-time, until the Fair Association learns what the City of Pleasanton's part will be and what the city's position is as regards the fair parade and Good Times parade. The Fair Association had given the organizing bodies $25,000 for the 1976 parade in June.

Directors also agreed to retain the horse training program, payment of legal fees charged by the firm of Moore, Sizoo and Cantwell in the amount of $12,060.31, received the resignation of poultry superintendent Jack Bulette, scheduled a race committee meeting to discuss greyhound racing and review of the horse training program.

Roland Browne, an appointee of Supervisor Fred Cooper, was introduced to the board.

Hall and maintenance superintendent Lou Alexander were authorized to attend the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona Sept. 18 and 19 to look over that Fair's sewage and utility setups. Hall was also authorized to attend the Western Washington Fair Sept. 25-28.

Indian center to host tours

LIVERMORE — Local school children will have their first glimpse of the city's radiant new American Indian Center when the facility is open for tours at the end of next week.

Teachers will be invited to bring their pupils through the one - room center, which will be decorated for the occasion with privately owned art works and artifacts as well as the regular collection of books, pictures and other items.

The open house, coordinated by local artist Jacque Earhart, is being timed to fall on American Indian Day, Sept. 24.

It won't be long before the center has a full - time staff member to keep it open for drop - in visitors and to coordinate the many projects being planned for the city's 350 or more Native American children.

At a Monday night meeting, American Indian Center board members approved a coordinator job description which will be going to the Livermore Unified School District for final approval next Tuesday night.

The district's personnel department will fill the position within a few weeks, hopes Indian Center chairperson Barbara Karr.

Mrs. Karr reports that local parents have been responding to the board's pleas for more participation. The center's federal funding depends on active participation by a large number of Native American parents in the center's operation.

Nursery school has openings

LIVERMORE — Kinderkirk, the Presbyterian nursery school of Livermore, still has a few openings in the 3 - 4 year old class.

Primarily a parent cooperative nursery school, Kinderkirk offers an optional non - participation program.

The class which has openings meets Tuesday and Thursday mornings, 9 to 11:30 a.m.

Details are available from Linda Meyer at 447 - 6356.

Open house promotes recreation

DUBLIN — Open House was held Monday night by the VCSD Recreation Department at Shannon Park Community Center.

Community members enrolled in the Recreation Dept. classes displayed their handiwork or gave demonstrations.

There was cake decorating in the lobby and belly-dancing in the basement with a wide variety of other arts and crafts throughout rooms between.

"People in the community are looking for activities to do," said Diane Jensen, recreation leader number three. "But they have no idea of the fine program we have going."

Drop-in programs are available for senior citizens and other adults. That means you can just drop-in and join certain activities if and when you feel you want to.

The Senior Drop-In Center is open on Tuesdays from 9 a.m to 2 p.m. Activities include crocheting, knitting, sewing, card playing, bingo, pool, ping pong, shuffleboard and much more. (Shannon Center)

For other adults, drop-in co-ed volleyball is available Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 at Dublin Elementary school. Drop-in basketball is held Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 at Dublin High School Gymnasium. Basketball ends Oct. 27, 1976.

There is no charge on drop-in activities or for the teen center. The recreation dept. would also like to start drop-in chess and badminton if enough people show interest.

The VCSD Recreation Dept. program is self-supporting. Tuition fees are charged for some classes which helps pay for supplies and other incidental expenses.

Local merchants offer discount programs and contribute some supplies.

Classes are formed on the basis of interest shown in a certain activity.

"If enough people want to learn something we try to make it available to them," said Jensen.

All age groups from pre-school to the elderly are welcome.

"We want more and more people to make use of our services," Jensen said. "We have a lot of worthwhile programs to offer to the members of this community."

Energy bill

SACRAMENTO — Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. has signed legislation that continues to assign priority to gas and electricity customers based on public benefit.

The original bill setting up priority listing was authored in 1974 by State Sen. John Nejedly, R - Walnut Creek.

"It is only prudent for the state to have a plan to allocate the future energy supplies as equitably as possible," Nejedly said.
